Comparing Classifiers and Regressors Using Grid Search

Kenneth Blomqvist

kenneth.blomqvist@aalto.fi

Abstract

This paper machine learning methods for classification and regression are compared. The methods used are random forest classifiers, bagged decision trees and feed-forward neural networks. An overview of the different methods compared is given.

REFERENCES